ABOUT

"New mail-artists want to know the second you received their mail. Folks new to the game have a slight worry to their approach. I don't think I've ever received a message of concern about a piece sent from someone who's made mail-art for a while. Not that they don't care about their creations, it might simply be the lack of preciousness related to the creation. Some things just don't arrive and you have to get used to that."

- Jon Foster
